

ASSOCIATE OF ARTS - FIRST NATIONS SPECIALIZATION

The First Nations Studies Specialization provides all students with the opportunity to learn about the people upon whose territory they reside, to learn about First Nations people from their voices, perspectives and worldviews, while gaining an understanding of the diversity amongst First Nations peoples' cultures, values, beliefs, traditions, protocols, history, languages, and relationship with the land.

New and exciting First Nations Studies courses include:

- Ethnobotany: Plants & First Peoples
- Introduction to First Nations Studies
- Aboriginal Language Preservation and Revitalization
- First Nations Community Research
- First Nations Education
- First Nations Health

Other courses include an overall First Nations focus or a portion dedicated to First Nations issues and/or themes.

Tuition and fees effective August 1, 2024 for the 2024/25 Academic Year.

¹Lab fees are mandatory. All associate degrees require a minimum of 3 credits in laboratory science, and students may take up to 42 lab credits.

²These fees are an annual cost. Program takes two years to complete.

³Please note that these are approximate costs and may vary depending on courses taken.

⁴Field schools have additional costs between $100 - $900 per field school, depending on the location and the activities. Field schools are not a mandatory component of all associate degrees, however, students are strongly encouraged to attend a field school during the spring/summer semester. Associate Degrees specializing in Environmental Geoscience are encouraged to attend a minimum of two field schools. Field schools are subject to different deposit requirements and refund rules.

^{}The Coast Mountain Students Union (CMSU) is pleased to announce that Extended Health and Dental Insurance has been approved by student referendum held in March 2021. Additional information will be provided by CMSU July 2021, including details of the coverage and directions for the opt out process for students with equivalent coverage. For any inquiries about the plan or referendum, please contact Bhushra Ansari, organiser@mycmsu.ca ^{}Basic Health insurance is mandatory for all international students. Health insurance costs will be charged every term until students provide proof of MSP.

Career opportunities

First Nations students receive credentials and/or qualifications to work in their communities (administrative, research or supervisory positions). All students acquire the tools to carry out honourable and useful research with First Nations communities because they learn and understand the importance of knowing the community they are working with (e.g. background, history, cultural protocols).

For those wanting to complete university degrees, an Associate's Degree in First Nations Studies can ladder into other degree programs, such as a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Social Work, or a Bachelor of Education.
